TMY STATE UNIVERSITY

A tradition is a mode of thought or behavior followed by a people from generation to generation. At Troy State University, tradition was a time honored experience passed down from parents, friends and other alumni. The tradition continued with cheering fans who filled the seats in Memorial Stadium and Sartain Hall, the spirit of competition during Greek Week, students enjoying the azaelas as they sat in a swing and talked with a friend, road trips to the beach and surrounding cities. Traditions such as Memorial Stadium, McCall Hall, Sartain Hall were rennovated and new traditions were added such as the new Hall of Honor. However, tradition did not change the purpose of Troy State University: Quality education, one student at a time.

Our vows of love,
our vows of faith
Troy State
we say to thee
Where e'er you go,
you'll always know
We'll ever loyal be
Not for a day,
not for a year
Shall we each other greet
As fellow students,
fellow friends
But 'til in heaven we meet!
So hail, alma mater
Troy State we all love thee
So hail, alma mater
We'll aye be true to thee.

Here's to the school we love
We are Trojans, one and all
We will always cheer for victory
and you'll never let us fall
GO! GO! GO!
Cheers to old Troy State
We are with you all the way
So get out there team and FIGHT! FIGHT! FIGHT!
And win today!

CAMPUS LIFE

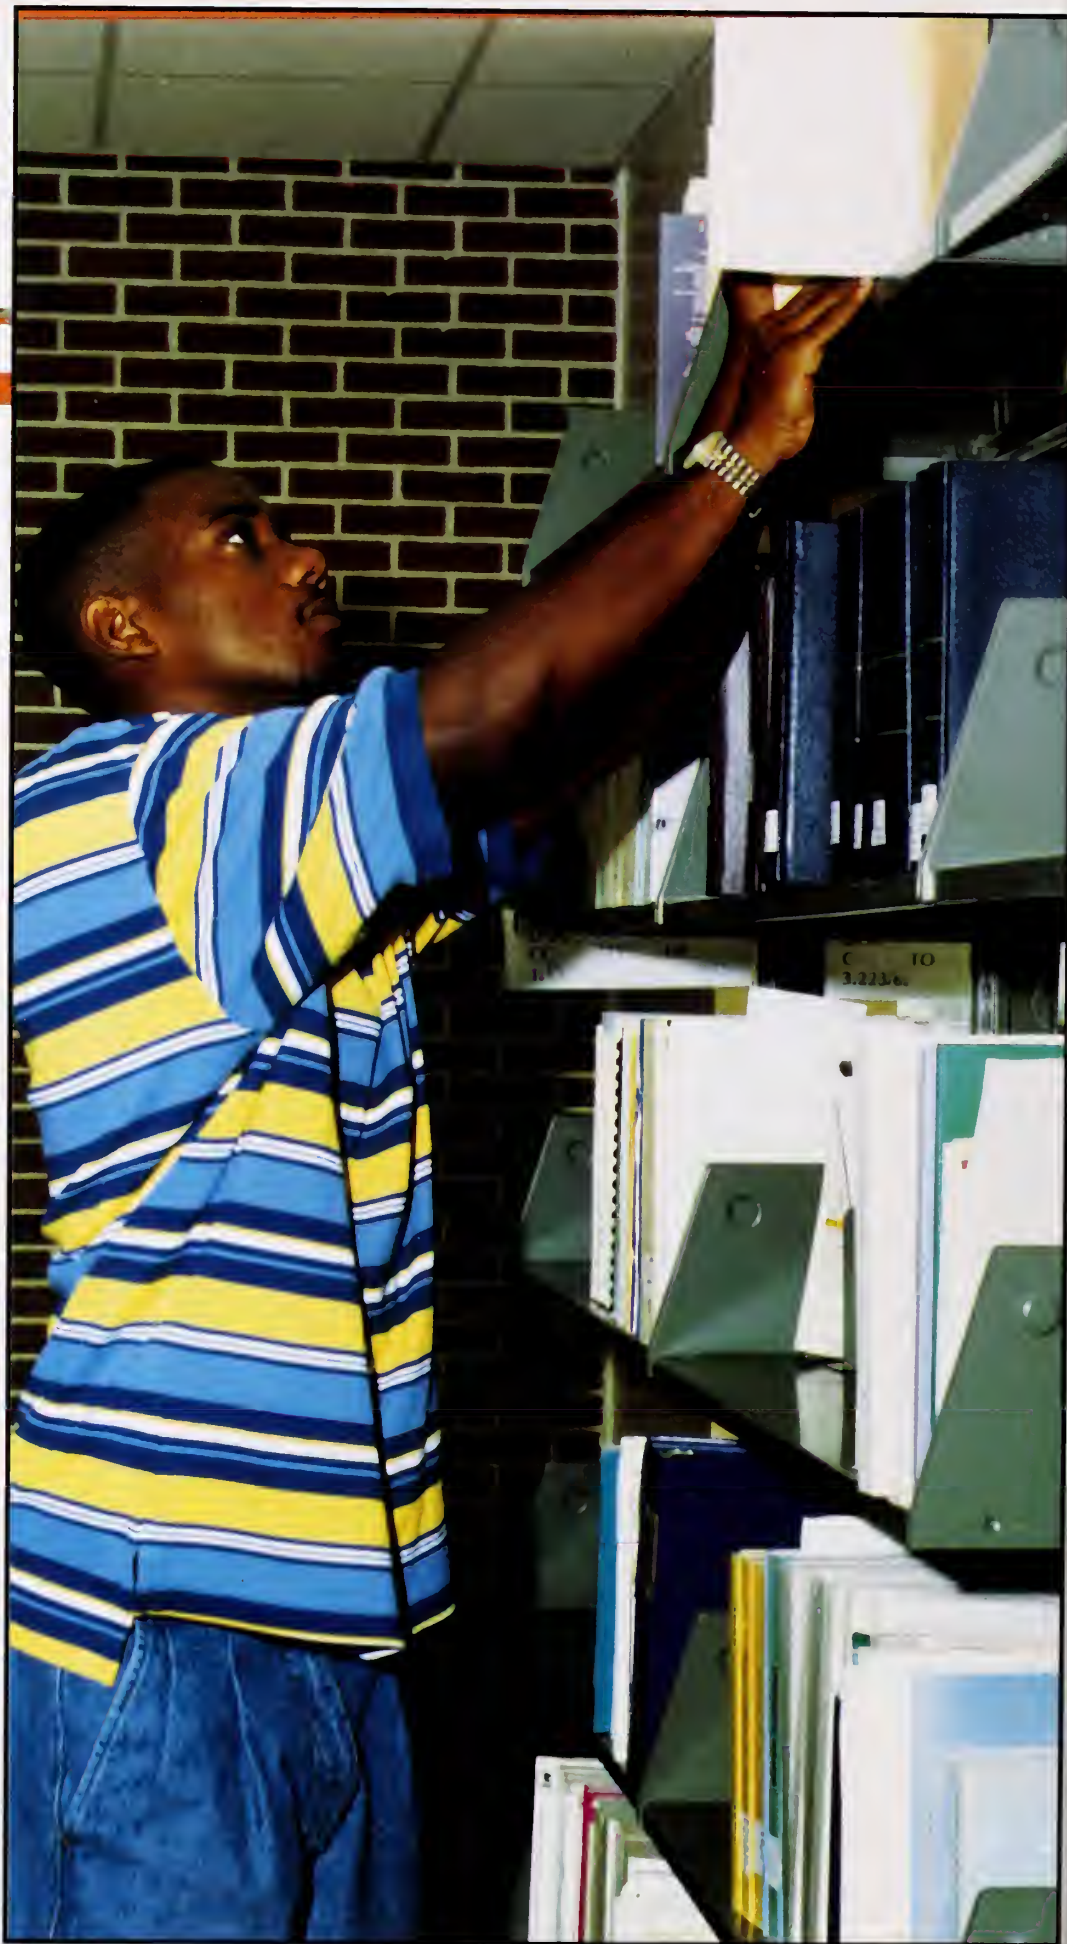

Working Hard For their

Money

Day or night. Full or part time. On or off campus. Jobs provided students with much-needed work experience and cash flow. Some students found ways to relieve strained wallets by working jobs on campus. The Financial Aid Office provided many jobs. The Career Center helped students find jobs off campus. Bulletins and announcements given in classes gave students opportunities for employment.

Working on campus proved to be a convenience for students who did not have reliable transportation. When placing students for work, the Financial Aid Office considered the student's career goal. If journalism was in the student's future, counselors try to find jobs for them in the Journalism Department. This helps the student not only by providing a job, but also by giving them experience that will help them after they graduate.

Malonn Barnes keeps the library running smooth by reshelving books, filing microfiche and assisting students.

Nikki Payton works many hours at Quick Copy to assist her cash flow.

Sirja Khanal works a few hours a week in the Trojan Room to keep a little extra green in her pocketbook.

Robert Weaver works on campus in the Adam's Center Recreation Room. Students like Derric Brown rely on him for pool sticks and ping pong paddles.

Friendship

*A true friend
is forever a friend.*

Friends are among the most important people in a student's life. At TSU, Students were overwhelmed with the opportunity to make new friends. With so many faces around it was impossible not to find someone who shared the same interests. Once a friend was found, many memories were made. Schedules, homework, parties, and dates were only a few of the ways friends could have a good time. No matter what the location, if there was a friend around there was a good time to be found. These friendships that were made will last much longer than the 1997-98 school year. They will last a lifetime.

Andi Scott and Illy Boldog became friends during Sorority Rush.

Randy Jackson, Cecily Metz, Dawn Nall, Sonia Wallace and Jody Adams can have a good time anywhere including the parking lot.

Reggie Lyas and Felacia Williams take a break between classes.

Bubba Manning and Mitt Walker have more in common than just being fraternity brothers.

Everything is better when it comes in a pair. This adage holds true for the heart. Students at Troy State University have found friendships and love during the past year. Leaving home to come to college was hard for some TSU students. Their hearts longed for companionship left back home. However, coming to Troy State opened many doors for the heart. Students met companions in classes, at campus activities, at sporting events and during nights out on the town. Students found that having a companion eased home sickness and offered a sense of comfort. Chores like grocery shopping and doing laundry were more fun with a friend. Lifelong memories and friendships were made throughout the year.

The Perfect Trojan Fan

Being a great fan does not come simply by showing up at occasional ballgames or having a Trojan sweatshirt in the closet. A great fan stays active in his or her university in many ways. During the 1997-98 year, TSU students, faculty and alumni could be rated as perfect fans. Football, basketball, volleyball, soccer and baseball were only a few of the sporting events where great Trojan spirit could be found. Students discovered more ways to show Trojan pride than just athletic events. The Adams Center Union Board along with the Student Government Association gave students and the community the chance to get excited by sponsoring many events like movies, concerts and parties. The Drama Department presented several plays throughout the year so supporters could show their refined tastes. Sororities and fraternities hosted fund-raisers, parties and concerts for Trojan fanatics. Given all these opportunities to show spirit, it was easy for Trojan fans to find some ways to show their devotion to TSU.

Troy State's campus had an abundance of quiet, relaxing, and fun places to study for those alone or in a group.

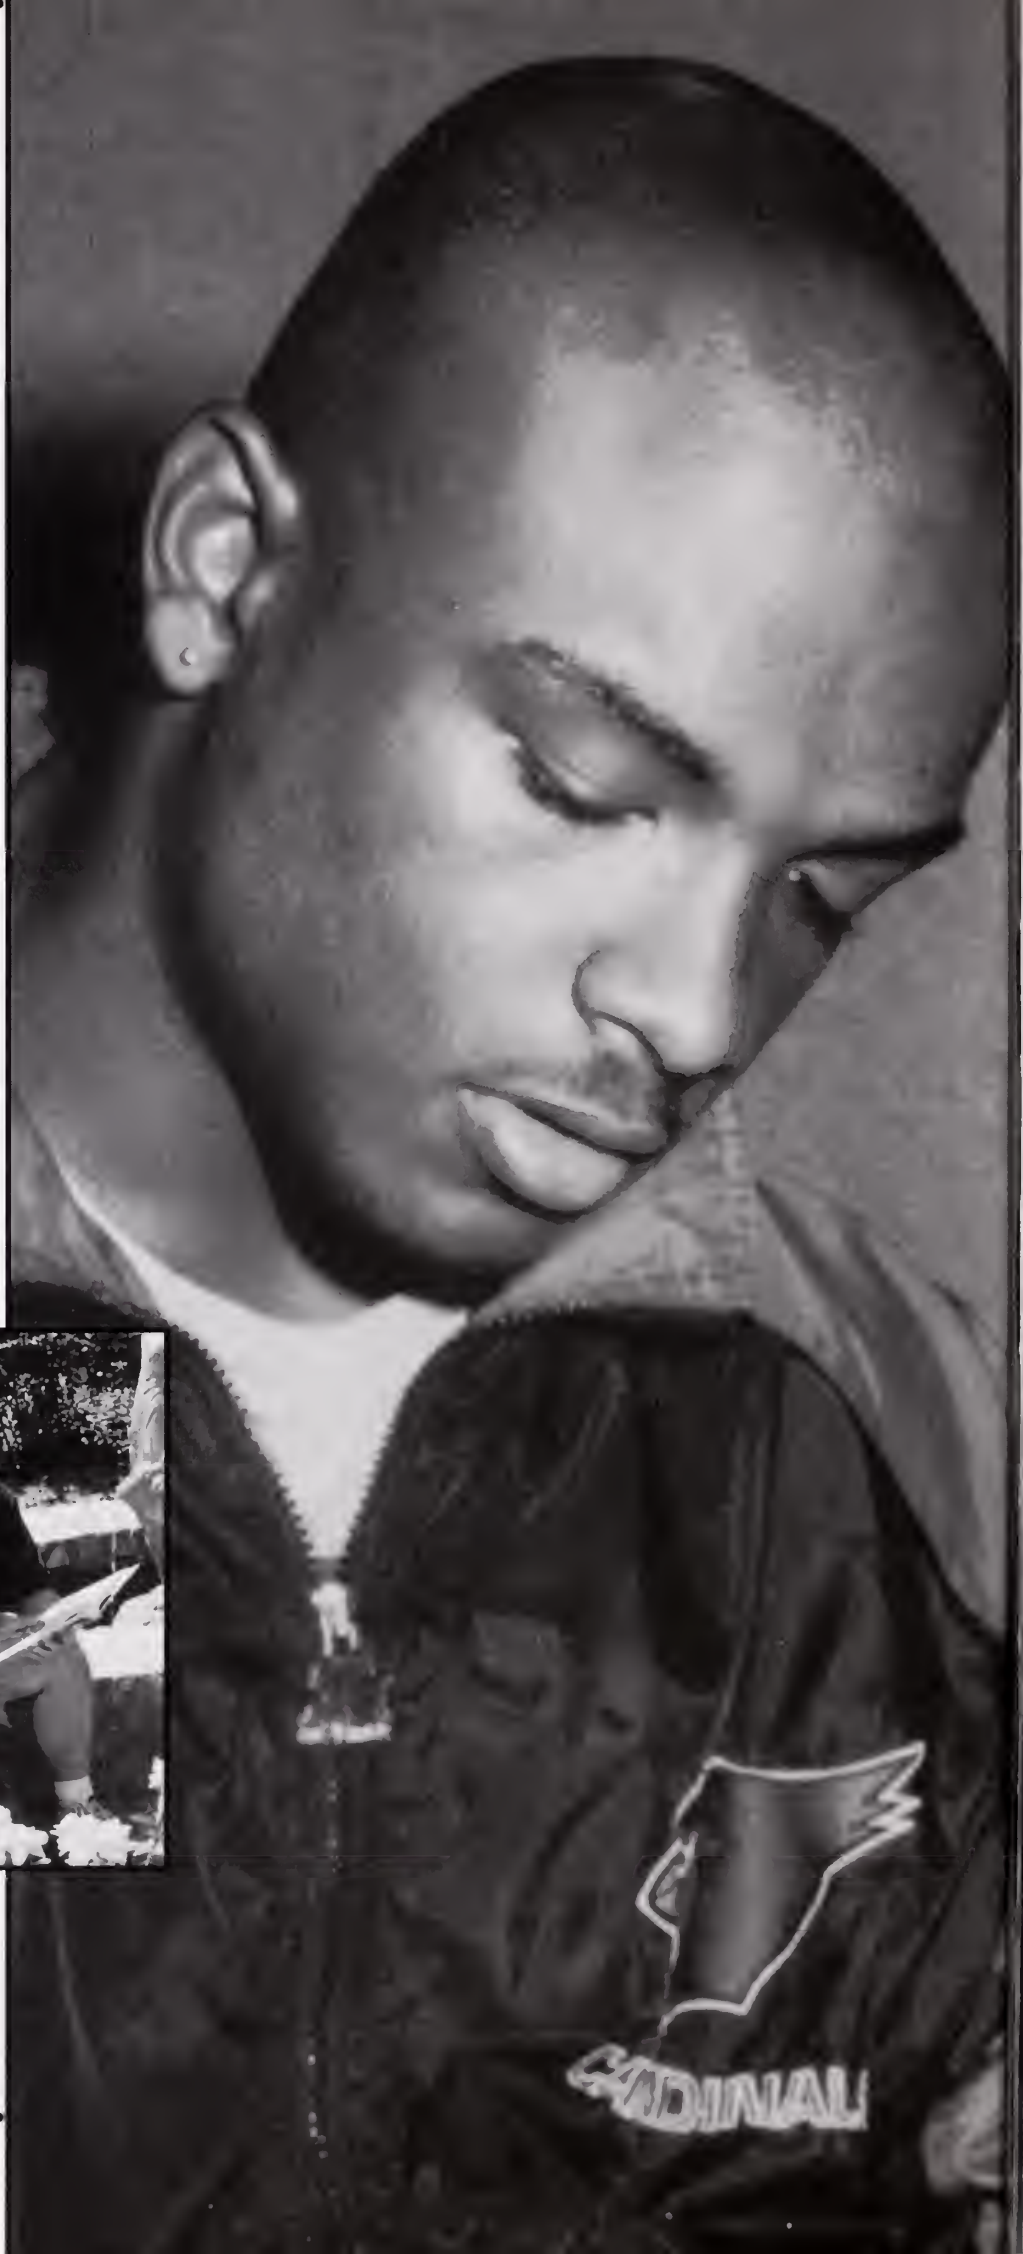

essence of study

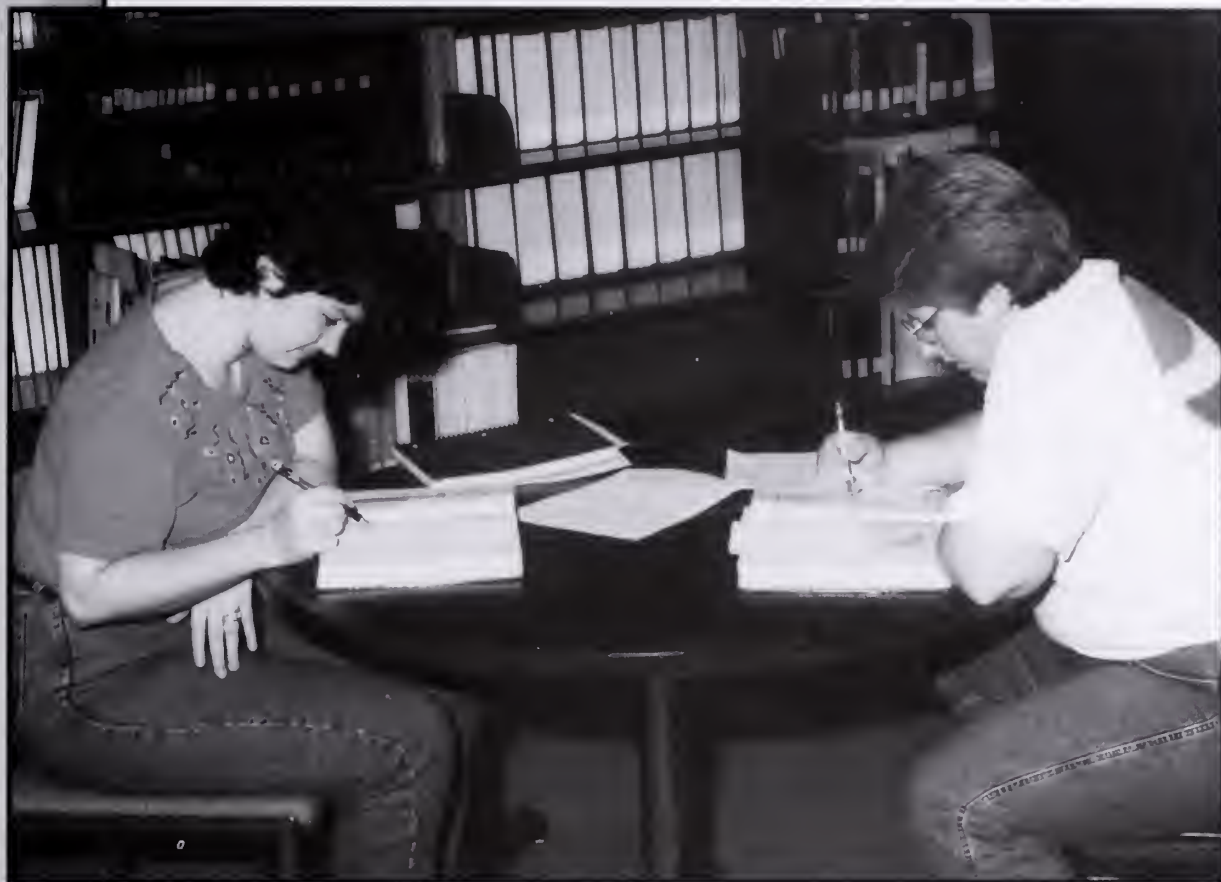

A large part of a student's time is spent studying and doing homework assignments. With a little searching, every student could find just the right niche on campus for his or her work. The library was a popular choice for students because reference books and computers were readily available. Swings around campus were never vacant because students were always studying in them. Stairwells and vacant couches in the Adams Center were perfect for catching up on assignments or sleep. Basically, anywhere a student could sit made the perfect study nook.

Priorities, Priorities, Priorities!

Students at Troy State University handle many responsibilities. They had to balance studies, work and play while also managing to make time to eat and sleep at some point. There was a growing number of students who had an even more precious priority in their lives, children. These students had to bend their schedules and still manage to make it to class. Student parents truly deserve their education.

A Long, Long Way From Home!

Troy State has always been an international university. TSU was home to 128 students from countries all over the world. Students came to receive the kind of quality education that they could only find in the hallowed halls of good old TSU. While here, they had the chance to experience Southern life to its fullest, and never was there any regret about leaving their homes to come to this place-this home away from home.

Buket Polat, Turkey, receives lessons from Dr. Mitchell in English to better equip her for life at Troy State.

Students like Izabella Kim, Tajikistan, and Keum Kwang Kim, Korea, are always hanging around the International Office while they wait for class to start.

Tolga Tamer, Turkey, and Imran Saleem, Pakistan, use computers to e-mail friends and family back home.

Kyle Stamps arrived for his class early, but despite his promptness, he finds himself practicing an art nearly perfected by students at Troy State....the art of waiting for a place to park.

Places to park near your class are a valuable commodity at Troy State. You may even start to consider if it is worth the price of a ticket to take that spot marked 'faculty only'. And in most cases, the answer is 'yes', yes it is worth it!

Parking Places? What Parking Places?

Parking at Troy State University was always an adventure. Whether it was waiting in line for what seemed like hours for some one to leave that perfect spot you have been eyeing, or if it was taunting the law by parking on the grass while you went to class. You were sure it would only last 30 minutes but you still found a ticket on your car when you arrived back. No matter what, parking at Troy State was always an adventure.

If you do find a place to park at Troy State, your journey isn't yet at an end. Before you lies the great event known as the TSU Cross Campus Hike. Chances are your class will be nowhere near the place you parked.

IN LINE WITH FASHION

Fashion was never hard to find and always found in the most unlikely places. What made someone fashionable was not always following the crowd but sometimes taking a bold leap from the norm. While other times doing what everyone else was doing could make you fashionable. But there are some things that never go out of style, and the people who realized this and grabbed on to one of these trends are the lucky ones because they always found themselves fashionable.

Cellular phones are thing to have. It is hard to walk across the campus without seeing at least a dozen of these little wonders.

Smiles never go out of style and are almost always seen at Troy State, except during the week of finals. But they do come back in a big way after the last final has been taken.

Fashion is not how you look but your attitude. If you think you look fashionable then you will be fashionable as Joe Zwierzchowski and his many piercings prove.

Takin' it Easy

For students to excel, there has to be a balance between work and play. Because some students were involved in organizations around campus, worked part-time jobs and maintained high grades, they seemed pressed for relaxation time. It was essential for students to learn how to manage time so they could fit all their responsibilities into the day, yet leave a few hours for "takin' it easy." When students did not learn how to manage their time efficiently, they were at risk of having too much stress. Students at Troy State University used many ways to get their "easy" time. The Adams Center Recreation Room was always full. The natatorium and weight room offered students ways to release tension through exercise. Dorms provided televisions in the lounges so students could gather for movies or soap operas. Students learned how to turn any location into a place to take it easy.

Stepping with

Style

Black History Month was a huge celebration at Troy State University. An event that every student looked forward to was the Step Show. The Student Government Association sponsored the show. There were cash prizes awarded for the top four organizations. Kappa Kappa Psi walked away from the competition with the first prize of $600. "A Night of Color" was sponsored by The African American Alliance to give students an opportunity to attend a formal event in honor of black history. SGA ran Black History Trivia in the Tropolitan during the month of February. Prizes such as mugs, sweatshirts, T-shirts and cartags were awarded to students who answered the trivia correctly. The entire month was celebrated by the entire student body regardless of their race.

Homecoming Tradition

Being a part of the Homecoming Court is one of the most honorable and memorable events that can occur in a young woman's college years. The young women who represented TSU as part of the 1997 Homecoming Court were outstanding leaders in clubs and organizations on campus. Each of the women made memories that they will never forget.

"There are so many memorable moments from Homecoming. The whole thing was a wonderful dream come true!"

Tori Lee

"Just being elected to the court was humbling because the people who elected me were just as deserving of the honor."

Mary Beth Morris

"It is a honor to be elected by your peers to represent them at such a special and exciting event. TSU Homecoming is unlike any other experience!"

Erin Johnson

"I have always loved this university so much, and that is why it was such an honor to represent it!"

Kelley Taylor

"Being elected among my peers to represent our university was the highlight of my senior year."

Umbrellas and raincoats helped Trojan fans stay dry during the game.

Homecoming was a very vivid and colorful event for Trojan fans. Using the Mardi Gras theme allowed fans to let their imaginations run wild. Although the weather was a little less than vivid, fans packed umbrellas and raincoats in order to participate in the day. The stadium was packed with fans despite the dreary weather. The festivities began early on the morning of October 31 and proceeded until the wee hours of the morning. Tailgating fans brought tents and tarpaulins to stand under during the drizzle. This homecoming proved that true Trojan fans support their team come rain or shine.

Cheering for the Trojans was what Homecoming was all about.

Rhett Atkins comes to TSU!

“There were fireworks flashin’ and thunder clappin’ and big waves crashin’ on the shore...” This line from Rhett Atkins hit song “Don’t Get Me Started” could have described the feeling Troy State students experienced the night of the big concert. The concert was held in the parking lot between the Adams Center and Wright Hall. Atkins put on a show that TSU students will not forget. Tickets to the concert sold out quickly. The show consisted of lights, cameras and action. Atkins sang songs from his debut album along with songs previously unreleased. The finale came when Atkins returned to the stage wearing a Troy State T-shirt and began singing rock ‘n’ roll songs. The crowd went wild. Troy State students were not the only fans in the audience. People from the city of Troy came as well as people from surrounding cities.

Keeping it in the Family

Many students on the Troy State campus have brothers or sisters who also attend school here. Family ties were never broken and attending college together strengthened these ties. There were many benefits for students who had family on campus. Getting homesick was not usually a problem for these students. Sharing clothes was a tradition that could continue between the siblings. Rent prices were less expensive for parents supporting children. Students with siblings always had someone with an honest opinion. Many friends would lie to spare your feelings about those lime green pants, but your sibling would tell you the truth.

Mona and Midge Padgett's parents were thrilled when their daughters decided to attend their alma mater.

Michael Gruenwald followed big sister Monica to TSU.

Although Ken, Billy and George Roedl each have a different major, they share many things including Trojan spirit.

I was almost here when I saw this building on fire. And inside was this little kitten. I had to go in and save it. If it hadn't been for me, the kitten might have died. It's not my fault, I swear!

I woke up this morning, and I coughed. Well you know there is something that's been going around so I had to go to the infirmary. It's not my fault, I swear!

Why didn't I turn in that paper? Well you see, these people from Green Peace came to my room and said my paper was so long that I was killing too many trees, and they told me never to write again, and they took my only copy. It's not my fault, I swear!

You see, I bought this car, and the people told me it would be reliable, but I got up this morning and it just wouldn't crank. It wasn't my fault, I swear!

Oh, you mean that my 8 a.m. class meets in the morning? I thought it was eight at night... It's not my fault, I swear

I told my friend to wake me up for class, but she never even tried. It's not my fault, I swear!

I bumped my head last night, and when I woke up I just couldn't remember how to tie my shoes. It's not my fault, I swear.

It's NOT my fault. I swear!

My dog ate my project. My dorm caught on fire. What was I suppose to do when the aliens abducted me, tell them they had to return me in time for class? Excuses, we have all used them, and we have all heard them. Some are believable. Some are rather unusual. But in the end, they were all part of the life experiences of Troy State students. Regardless of how the excuse began, who died or what it was that ate what, it didn't matter in the end. Because regardless of whether the excuse was true or not.... It wasn't your fault, you swore.

The Fine Arts

Many students at Troy State University found time between classes and assignments to explore the fine arts. TSU gave students opportunities to experience the arts on campus. The speech and theatre department sponsored two to three plays each quarter. Auditions were open to any student. The art of music was widely promoted around campus. There was much more than the TSU Marching Band for students to join. Private music lessons were offered to students. The Symphony Band gave students an opportunity to exercise their musical talents while performing in concerts. The Art Guild was a home away from home for students with a passion for painting, sculpting or drawing. Those students who were interesting in observing the arts instead of creating art had many opportunities. Free tickets were issued to students to attend the plays. The Symphony Band performed for the public during spring quarter and traveled through out the area to perform concerts. The art gallery in Malone Hall housed exhibitions from world famous artists. There were exhibitions of sculptures and photography as well as paintings. By promoting the arts on campus, TSU fostered a love of the arts in its students.

Mayumi Miura and Tara Coalson show that art is not always a clean experience.

Top Five Finalists: Trisha Ratcliffe, Jana Grice, Lydia Willoughby, Jill Dobson and Mary Beth Morris

The 1998 Miss TSU was Miss Lydia Willoughby. Willoughby was a senior human resource major. She won the title on February 21. This was not the only title Miss Willoughby held during her time at TSU. She also held the 1996 TSU Homecoming Queen title. Anyone who knew Willoughby personally would say she did not let the honor of two titles go to her head. She was very proud to represent TSU, but knew her success came from the support of a great university. Willoughby not only walked away with the Miss TSU title, but she also won the talent competition. She performed "Solfeggietto" by Bach on the piano. This was Willoughby's third attempt at gaining the title. Her hard work and dedication finally paid off. She represented Troy State University in the Miss Alabama pageant in June.

The Miss TSU pageant allowed all the contestants to exhibit their talents. Trisha Ratcliffe awed the audience with a clogging routine. Jana Grice impressed everyone with her performance on the violin. Jill Dobson and Mary Beth Morris performed lyrical dances. Each young woman in the pageant possessed a special talent and enjoyed sharing it with the audience.

The most memorable moment of the pageant is the crowning.

Disability Awareness Day

During winter quarter the Social Work Methods III class designated March 5 as Disability Awareness Day. The day recognized the 100th anniversary of the social work profession. Student volunteers, faculty members and organization representatives participated in the celebration by being "disabled" for a day. The purpose of the event was to educate and enlighten people about what it is like to be disabled on a day-to-day basis and what services are needed. The methods class hoped that the day would help people become aware of the difficulties that disabled people face and become more understanding toward them. The day was brought to a close with a wheelchair basketball game. Players from the women's and men's Trojan basketball team took on the Mavricks. The Mavricks were a professional wheelchair basketball team. The Mavricks defeated the Trojans handily.

Many students raised money for the day by obtaining pledges for the number of hours they were disabled.

A variety of disabilities were available for students to choose, such as an injured neck and impaired eye.

A relay race was held to demonstrate the difficulty someone with an injured arm has when getting dressed.

Hard Hat Area

Everywhere a student turned on campus there were "caution" and "warning" signs posted. Areas were fenced off so students could not get near the debris and rubble of the construction. Pace Hall was completely gutted on the inside and rebuilt. Plans were made to move the International Office and Housing Office to the first floor of Pace. Rooms containing kitchenettes and bathrooms were also planned for the second and third floor of the old Sorority Hall. Sartain Hall was also under extensive renovation. A new basketball floor was added along with a new lobby and air conditioning. The final details were added to McCall Hall during the year. The Math and Science departments appreciated the new labs and much needed space. Memorial Stadium also underwent construction to raise the seating capacity to 17,300. With such a busy year of building and renovating, the TSU campus grew rapidly before students eyes.

Construction began on Memorial Stadium immediately after football season.

Nine hundred seats will be added to Sartain Hall.

Math and science majors appreciate the efforts made to renovate McCall Hall.

Signs were posted around Pace to warn students to park their vehicles at risk.

Britain and the world bid farewell to Diana, Princess of Wales, on a sparkling September morning with a grand tribute that was rich in pageantry. Since her death in a car crash in Paris a week before, the country was witness to a most astonishing outpouring of grief that forced a repentant monarchy to join in the kind of full celebration of Diana's life that the millions of people who flooded into London demanded.

Diana's sons, William, 15, and Harry, 12, stood in attendance, joined by their father, Prince Charles and her Brother, Earl Spencer, as her body was taken into Westminster Abbey. Millions packed the city for the funeral of Diana. It was a crowd unmatched since the end of World War II. More than a million bouquets by official count were stacked outside the royal palaces.

Mother Teresa was among the most well-known and highly respected women in the world in the later half of the 20th century. She dedicated her life to helping the poor, the sick and the dying around the world, particularly those in India. Her selfless work with the needy brought her much acclaim and numbers of awards, including the Nobel Peace Prize in 1979. She died at the age of 87 on Sept. 5, 1997, of heart failure at her convent in Calcutta. About a week before Mother Teresa's death, Dr. Mary Ann Lafleur, associate professor of History, gave her the TSU blanket she is pictured with.

'His music sprang from his feelings of love,' said Hal Than, his longtime manager.

Adams was president and chancellor of the Troy State System for 25 years.

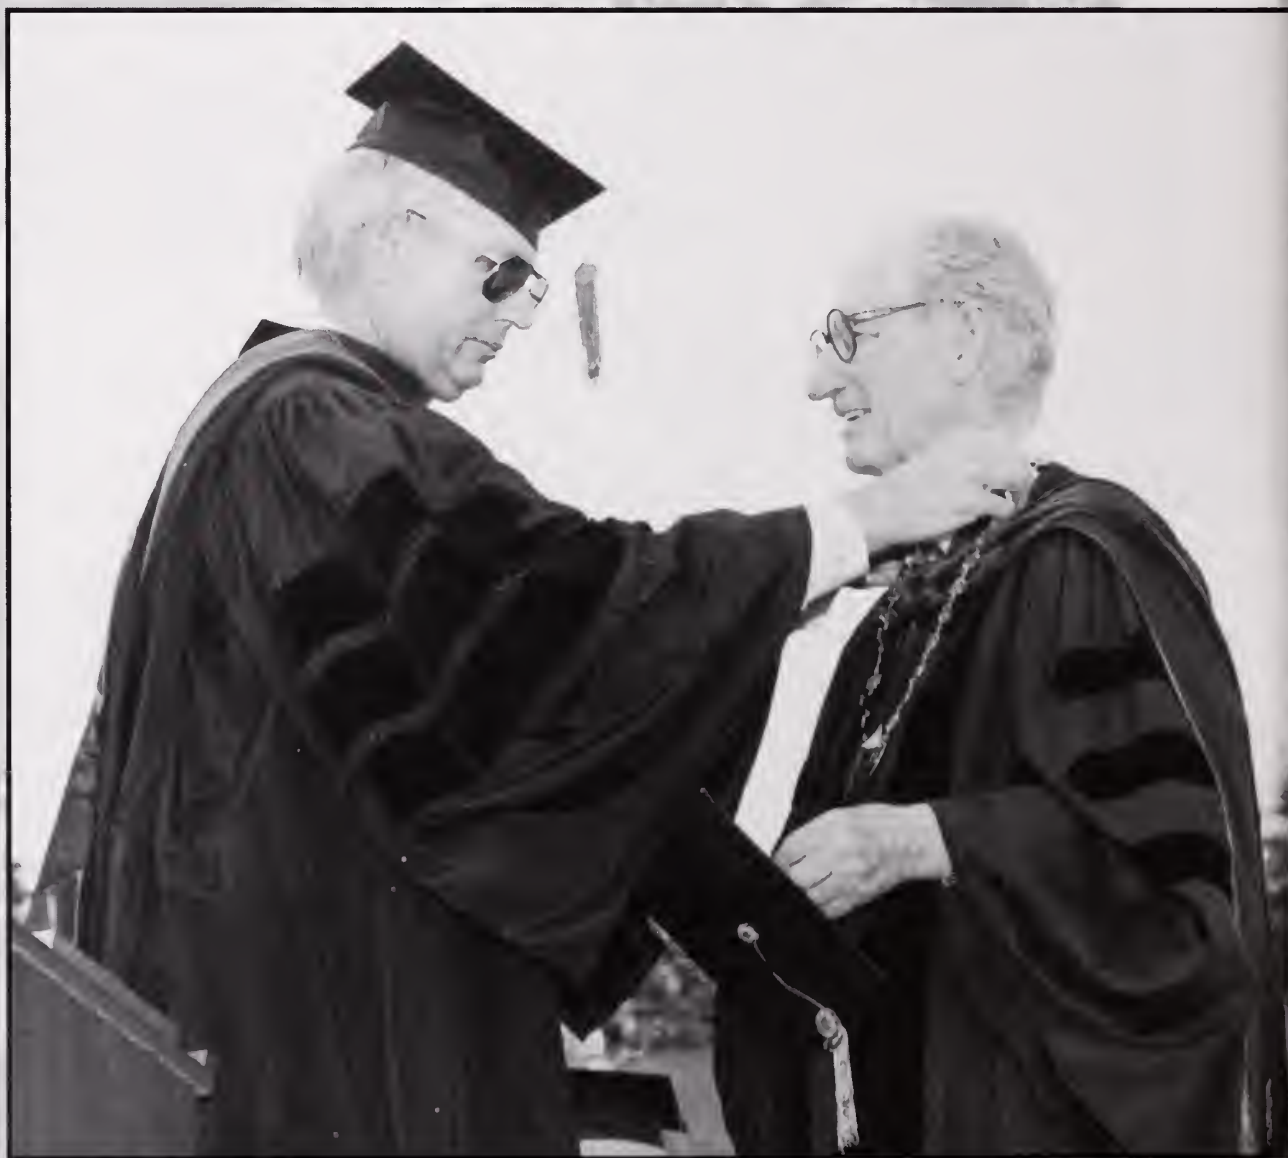

In September of 1989, Adams turned the Chancellor's Medallion over to Dr. Jack Hawkins.

"My future is tied up entirely with this institution, its future, and to make it finest in the country."

Ralph Adams

Governor Guy Hunt placed the Chancellor's Medallion on Adam's neck, inaugurating him as the first chancellor of the Troy State University System.

DR. RALPH WYATT ADAMS 1915-1998

Dr. Adams, 82, was an invaluable part of Troy State University and leaves behind a legacy for both the school and the world.

While administrator, Adams helped see Troy State achieve university status, more than double enrollment and win the NAIA national championship in football.

Even though these accomplishments were made during his administration, Adams never took credit for them. He gave the credit to the faculty and the students.

Among Adams' honors were: Kappa Delta Pi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, Mortar Board and the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award. He was named Troy's Man of the Year in both 1968 and 1975, and he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

Adams held a bachelor's degree from Birmingham Southern and earned a law degree from the University of Alabama. He achieved a postgraduate study at both the University of Colorado and George Washington University. He was a graduate of Harvard University Institute for Educational Management and attended summer school at Jesus College, Oxford University.

He was married to the late Mrs. Dorothy Kelly Adams and has always considered himself to be a Trojan.

Adams will join his wife in burial beside the Sorrell Chapel on campus.

Behind the Curtain

Many things went on behind the curtain that made the plays at TSU so incredible. Hard work and dedication were required to ensure that the seven performances were top quality. The actors and actresses that appeared on the stage spent an immeasurable amount of time learning scripts. But this was only a small portion of the work that went into creating the performances. Students worked behind the curtain on lighting, costume design and stage design. These students also spent hours making sure that the performances were perfect.

Students, faculty and citizens gather in the quad to rally against the change of Troy State's

The message of those assembled was clear: 'Don't change our name.'

Troy State University needed help. Rumors of a possible name change were being heard and confirmed all over campus. The students did the only thing they could do. They banded together and tried to help stop the name change. On May 21 at 10 a.m. students gathered together in the quad to hold a rally letting everyone know their feelings on this possible name change. The rally did not have negative overtones, it was strictly a positive meeting to help convince the board of the amount of people the name change would negatively effect. Hundreds showed up for the rally and the sound of the fight song of Troy State was heard echoing through the air as the crowd sang out in love and support of their school... their home... their Troy State.

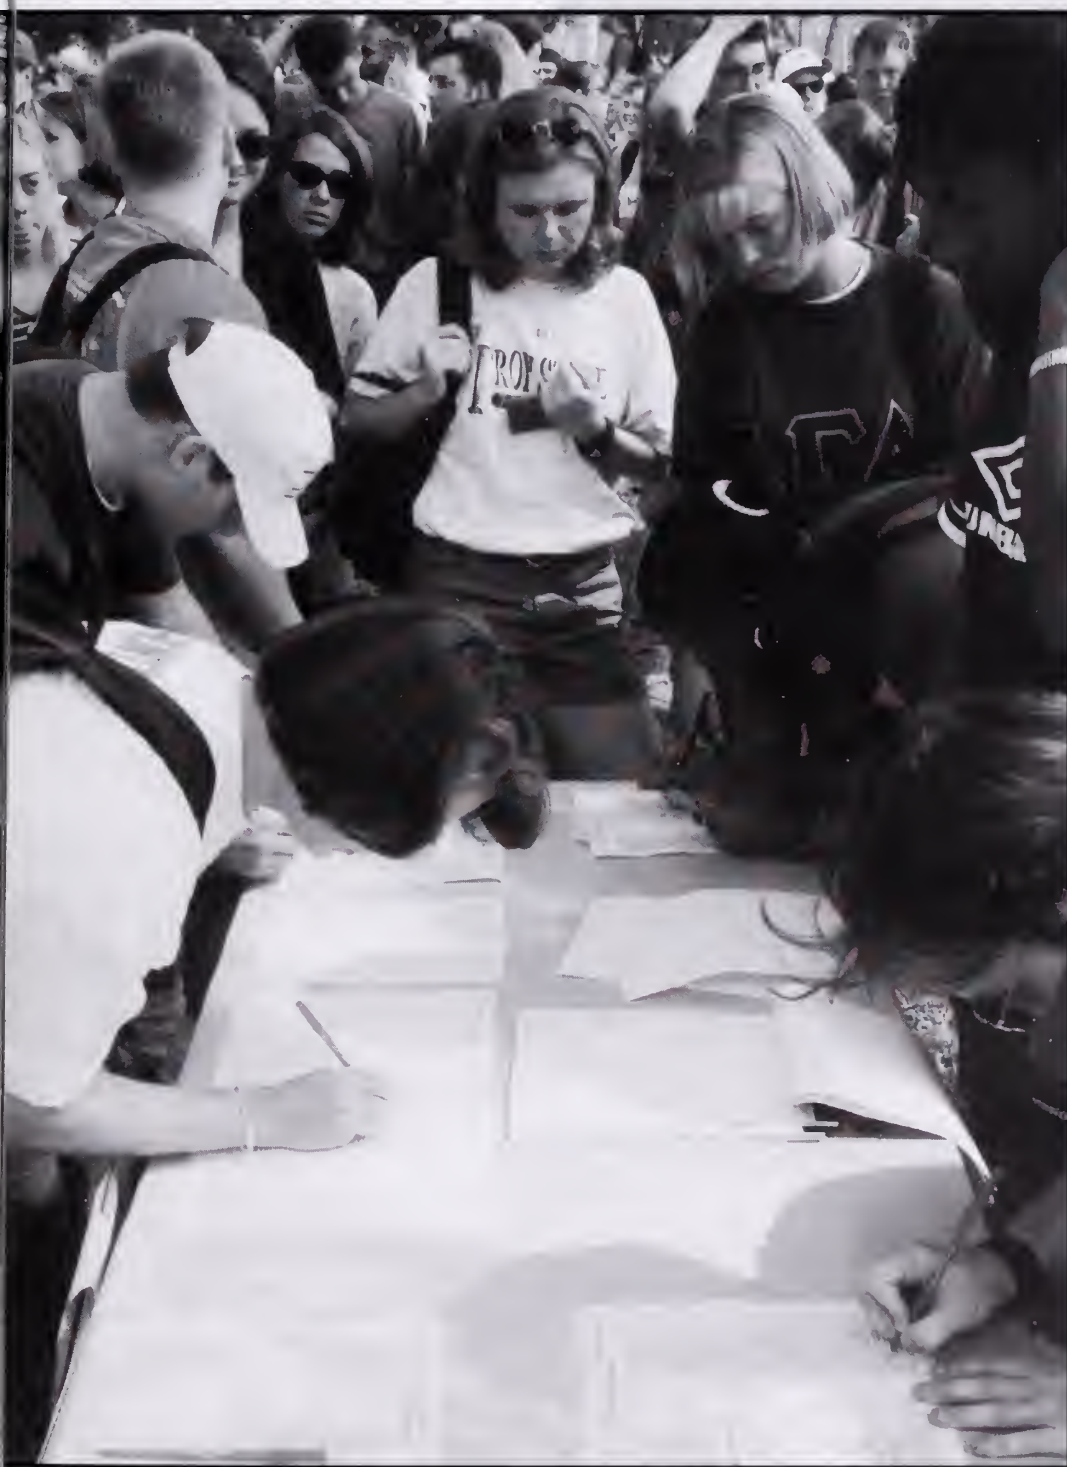

On June 3 the board held a meeting to decide the fate of Troy State. More than 200 students, faculty, alumni and community members were present. At this meeting the board announced that the name of the school would not change. The students had made a difference.

Regardless of the board's decision the flag and name of Troy State will forever fly high in the hearts of its students.

David Stephens sings a song he wrote to help people understand how deep the feelings for the name Troy State run.

At the rally nearly 6,000 people sign the petition requesting that the board not change the name.

Honors Convocations

Alma Mater

Our vows of love, our vows of faith,
Dear school, we've said to thee:
Each strong man, each gentle maid
Will ever loyal be.

Not for a day, not for a year
Shall we each other greet
As fellow students, fellow friends,
But till in Heaven we meet.

So hail, Alma Mater,
Dear School, we all love thee.
So hail, Alma Mater,
We'll aye be true to thee.

So when in days that are to come
Fond memories we recall.
The memories of Troy State
We'll cherish most of all.
Your stately portals, spacious halls
In dreams we will enjoy,
And hearts again will sadly yearn.

During her address to the audience Polly Holliday, who played the part of Foon 'Alice' and Tim's mother on 'Home Improvement', said she had come a long way from 'kiss my grits.'

The Journey's End

To the Graduate:

Live each day to the fullest.
Get the most from each hour,
each day,
and each age of your life.
Then you can look forward with confidence,
and back without regrets.

Be yourself - but be your best self.
Dare to be different
and to follow your own star.

And don't be afraid to be happy.
Enjoy what is beautiful.
Love with all your heart and soul.
Believe that those you love,
love you.

When you are faced with decision,
make that decision as wisely as possible -
then forget it.
The moment of absolute certainty
never arrives.

And above all, remember that
God helps those who help themselves.
Act as if everything depended upon you,
and pray as if everything depended upon God.

GREEKS

Rush Week

Rush was an exciting experience for all and provided an opportunity to join a fraternity or sorority. Formal rush was held during the fall, winter and spring. Greek organizations built pride in their traditions and were proud to share them with others. Rush was a time to learn about each organization and a chance to meet new people. It opened many doors and provided a variety of challenging opportunities.

Squeal Day, a time honored tradition, was an exciting time for Kappa Delta sisters, Michelle Totty, Angie Wells and Mellissa Williamson.

Alpha Delta Pi cheered and waited for their new pledges.

Sigma Chi men show their pledges a good time at a Rush party.

Rush Week is filled with many parties and activities. Phi Mu sisters get ready to begin their week of activities.

Greek Madness

Mardi Gras Madness turned into Greek Madness during the 1997 Homecoming week as each sorority and fraternity joined in the fun and competition of the week. Each night was filled with different activities ranging from Skit Night to the Bedrace to Victory to the annual Torchlight Parade. Greek symbols could be seen all over campus showing support for the Troy State Trojans. Alpha Delta Pi walked away with the win for the number one spirit spot, while Phi Mu was the overall spirit winner.

Caring & Sharing

Troy State University Greeks work hard each year to support the local community and national causes. Each sorority and fraternity sponsors a philanthropy in which they contribute time and money. The American Cancer Society, the Children's Network and local charities are just some of the organizations that benefit from the work of the Greek organizations.

Pi Kappa Phi brothers help raise money for their philanthropy, PUSH America, through the annual Young Guns concert.

Greek Week

Greek Week was a time for fraternal unity on the field and off. Each Greek organization joined together to enjoy a little fun during all the competitive events. For the first time sororities competed with each other instead of head on head competitions. Overall Greek Week winners for the year were Kappa Delta sorority and Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. The whole week was topped off with the first ever Pell Party, where all the Greeks could come together for a time of relaxation. During the week all the Greeks learned the importance of Greek loyalty, love and sportsmanship.

ATHLETICS

Here's to the School We Love

The Troy State University football team had a tough season. After last year's Southland Conference title and a 12-2 record, many of the sportswriters ranked the Trojans as high as second in the nation in their preseason polls. The season started out with a bang with the Trojans winning their first three games, including a 30-0 shutout of Alcorn State in the opener. But injuries plagued the team for the remainder of the season, and it failed to make the playoffs for the first time in four seasons.

BASKETBALL

One and All

The 1997-98 Trojan basketball team entered the season with only one starter returning from the 16-11 squad last year. The loss of four starters made experience hard to come by for the Trojans. The entire season was spent searching for a group of guys who could play well together and win. Even though they did not get many wins on the board, the men's basketball team was always very competitive. With many players returning next year, the Trojans should make a run for the Trans-America Athletic Conference championship.

For Victory

The 1997-98 Lady Trojans came into the season looking to improve on an impressive 23-7 season of a year ago. They knew from the start that it would be extremely tough to match. The Lady Trojans played well in the friendly confines of Sartain Hall posting a record of 7-3 at home. But a mediocre road record of 6-8 cost the Lady Trojans the conference championship. They finished the season with an overall record of 13-14.

Never Let Us Fall

Troy State's newest sport, soccer was introduced in the fall of 1997. The Lady Trojan soccer team played its inaugural season on the green grass of the upper intramural field. The Lady Trojans never experienced the thrill of victory, but remained extremely competitive throughout the entire season. TSU played one of the toughest schedules in the region. With nine freshmen receiving a considerable amount of playing time, the Lady Trojans are sure to build a winning tradition.

TROYAN PRIDE

T-ROY

Some people's first impression of Troy State University as children is the athletic events. But what most people remember is not the game but Troy's beloved mascot T-ROY. He is Troy State University's biggest fan. His crazy antics bring thousands of people pleasure every year. He also fires up the team so they will play their best. Being able to put on the T-ROY costume is a great honor because he is the symbol of our university. T-ROY was portrayed by Drew Tessier during the 1997-98 school year.

GO! GO! GO!

The Lady Trojans entered the 1997 season with hopes of winning the Trans America Athletic Conference in its first season of play. They had been playing in the Mid-Con Conference. However the season started slow and the team was not able to recover. But the team was not without success. Wins over in-state rivals South Alabama, Alabama State and Jacksonville State were big lifts for the team. The Lady Trojans ended the season with an overall record of 12-21 and a conference record of 4-3.

We Are With You...

The 1998 Trojan baseball team had a very successful season. The Trojans finished the season with a 37-21 record. As a team the Trojans had an impressive .306 batting average and 115 home runs. Jorge Soto broke the single season home run record with 23 homers. Winning 37 ball games and beating ranked opponents like Alabama and South Alabama the team nearly had a chance at a second straight Regional appearance and a chance to go to the College World Series. But the sportswriters chose not to pick the Trojans and ended their chance for a national championship.

The Quest for Division I

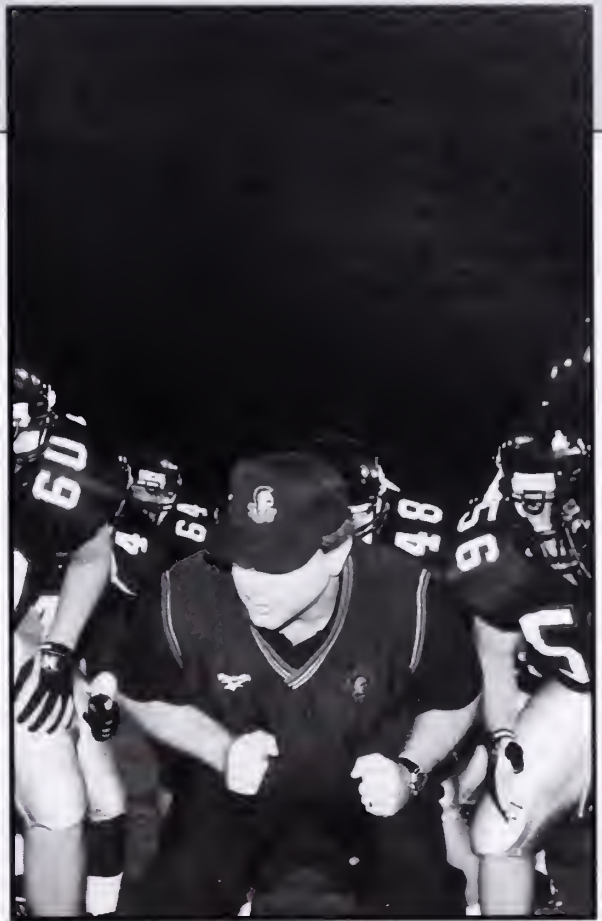

Troy State has a long and proud tradition on the athletic field. Troy State in its long history has won national championships in many different sports all on the Division 2 level. The Troy State Board of Trustees voted on June 3, 1998 to commit to bring its athletic programs to the top of Division 1. The basketball team led the nation in scoring just a few years ago and the baseball team made an appearance in the Regional Championships for a chance to play in the College World Series. And the Troy State Football Team will now begin its quest for Division I. Troy State athletics began in the right direction and was a source of pride for the university.

FOOTBALL

T-Day Game

Every spring the Troy State football team participates in spring drills. These drills give the coaches a chance to see what the team will be like during the fall. It is a chance for younger players to shine and for the older players to show they have what it takes to play Trojan Football. At the end of spring training the team plays the annual T-Day Game. This is an intrasquad game that provides a lot of excitement and is also a lot of fun for the players.

CHEERLEADING

Trojan Spirit

The 1997-98 Trojan cheerleaders worked hard all season long to promote pride and spirit throughout Troy State's campus. On the Thursday before every home football game they provided a pep rally to fire up the Trojan fans for the upcoming game. They cheered at numerous sporting events, such as: football, soccer, volleyball, and basketball games.

INTRAMURALS

Fall

Fall quarter brings fall intramurals and everyone's favorite sport, flag football. Many TSU students participated in intramurals. Most of the fraternities and sororities had teams and there were also many independent teams. Games were played on the lower intramural fields. Intramurals give students a chance to get away from the everyday pressures of class and work and to have a good time. The flag football season ended with a big tournament at the end of the season. The tournament was composed of the best teams from the regular season.

Sports Information

Not many people on campus really know who keeps the athletic events running smoothly. Everybody just knows that somebody has got to make sure that the games start on time and that someone keeps records of them. The sports information department releases daily information about what is going on with Troy State's athletic programs. They also designed all of the media guides.

Chris Ingram, Erin Johnson and Jeff Whitehead support the TSU student rally by wearing their TSU shirts. They were three of over 500 students who rallied to save the name of their beloved university.

Students love Troy State University. And they showed their loyalty by attending a rally on the quad to save the name of their university.

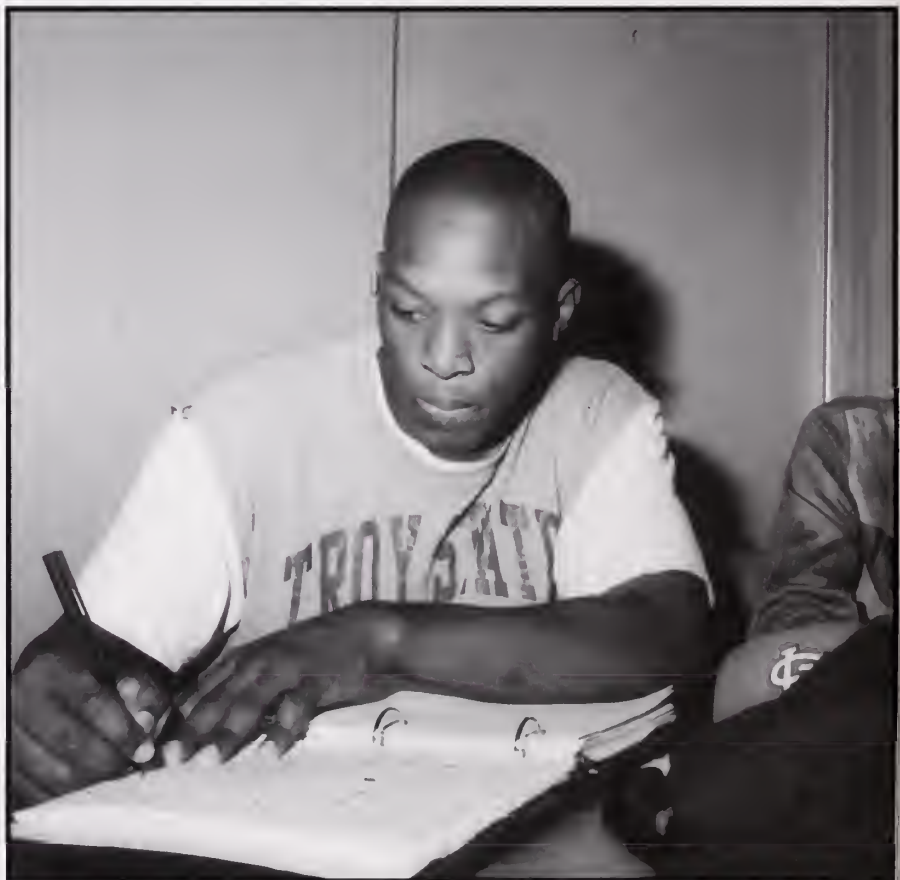

Alumni of TSU, Eric and Amy Guttenshon, are proud parents of America's first all male quintuplets.

Frank Jones works very hard to complete all of his work on time.

Faces And Places

The people section was a sure way to make sure that you would be featured in the Palladium. Students had to take time from busy schedules to get pictures taken during two days in the fall. If students were unable to attend, a retake day was offered in January. Students who took time to get their picture taken will someday look at their friends and themselves in the 1998 Palladium of past memories.

These TSU students enjoy spending time at the UA baseball game supporting the TSU trojans.

Lambda Chi brothers enjoy spending time together tailgating during Homecoming 1997.

TSU students take time out of their schedule to visit with a 'furry friend.'

"HANGING OUT"

There are millions of things for people to do at the Troy State Campus. Students can be found "hanging out" anywhere from Intramural games to studying in the library or just relaxing in the sun. Troy State University has something to offer students from different backgrounds and all walks of life. There is something or somewhere for everyone!

Charles Thomas works hard trying to finish his research in the TSU library.

Anna Marie Hornsby and John Browning enjoy supporting all Troy State activities.

Alumni enjoy spending time at the Homecoming game and recalling old memories from the Palladium.

ACADEMICS

College of Arts and Sciences

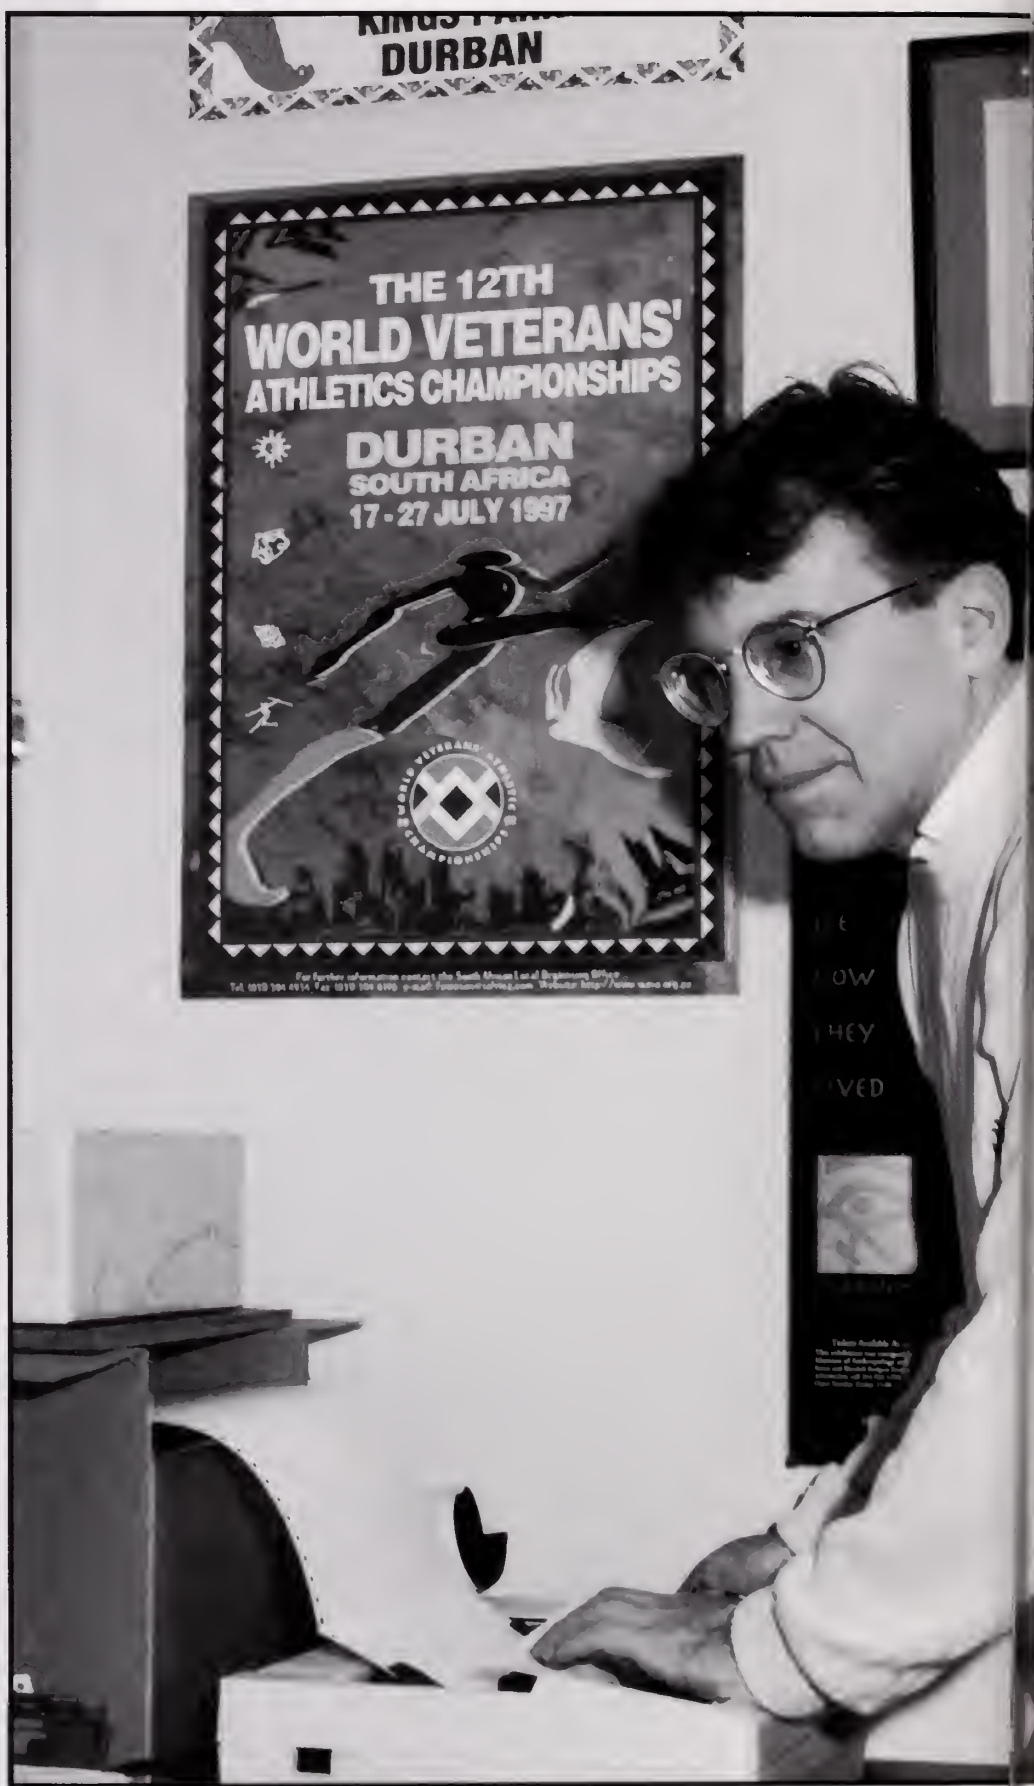

The College of Arts and Sciences is, from a historical and functional point of view, the foundation of Troy State University.

The College of Arts and Sciences views creativity, inquiry and understanding as among the greatest values in human experience.

The College of Arts and Sciences is dedicated to the questioning, creation and transmission of knowledge and to the provision of undergraduate and graduate educational programs which are responsive to the need for a productive student. Programs and services offered also enhance the quality of life of the people it serves. These goals compelled a commitment to creativity and non-bias and were based upon the principles of objective scholarship.

The College of Arts and Sciences includes departments for criminal justice and social sciences, English, biological sciences, foreign languages, history, mathematics, military science and physical science.

Dr. Scott Thornsley prints out a test for his criminal justice class.

College of Arts and Sciences faculty and staff.

Norma Mitchell, Professor of history, celebrated a Trojan tradition at the 1997 Homecoming Parade.

"The mission of the Department of Criminal Justice and Social Sciences is to provide students with the knowledge of the systems and theories involved in the social sciences, and with the ability to think critically about the issues involved in the fields of criminal justice, political science, law, sociology, anthropology and geography. We want to prepare our students for the challenges of employment or for graduate education in these fields."

- Ed Stevens

Department of Criminal Justice & Social Sciences

The criminal justice program provides an understanding of the American justice system and develops the students's ability to critically analyze the problems associated with that system. The social science program provides the students with an excellent broad-based foundation in the social sciences, combining several disciplines in the curricula. Political science and geography are also offered in this department.

Detachment 17 is one of the few AFROTC units that has earned both the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award and The Air Force Organizational Excellence Award.

Estimated number of students: 50

Faculty and staff
from the Department of Aerospace Studies

Department of History and Political Science

The Department of History provides general studies courses for the required core curriculum as well as a major and a minor in history. The history major provides preparatory courses for students who plan to continue their studies on a graduate level or to enter related fields.

Estimated number of students: 70

Faculty and Staff for
the Department of History.

Department of Math

The Mathematics Department offers Troy State students three mathematics majors along with a 30 hour minor. The department also offers a master's in mathematics education. The department is committed to excellence in teaching and in promoting student proficiency in both the theoretical and practical aspects of math.

Estimated number of students: 100

Faculty and Staff for
the Department of Math.

Department of Biological Sciences

The Department of Biological Sciences offers the following undergraduate programs: biology, medical technology, marine biology, biological education and environmental science. A graduate program in environmental analysis and management also is offered. The department offers a non-teaching biology major and a non-teaching biology minor.

Estimated number of students: 384

Faculty and Staff for
the Department of Biological Sciences.

Department of Military Science

The 31 cadets of Charlie Company comprise the Corps of Cadets for Troy State University as part of the Tiger Battalion of Auburn University at Montgomery. Army ROTC has been commissioning cadets from TSU for nearly 20 years, and many of the ROTC graduates have gone on to leadership positions of great significance within various branches of service.

Estimated number of students: 31

Faculty and Staff for
the Department of
Military Science.

Department of Physical Science

The Department of Physical Science was organized in the mid 1971-1972 period and was headed by Edward Ward. The curriculum of the department of physical science offers teaching degrees on the secondary level, and training work in industry or graduate and professional school. The faculty that by teaching the students various concepts of the field the students will not only gain an in-depth understanding of these concepts but develop a positive attitude toward science.

Estimated number of students: 47

Department of Computer and Information Science

The Computer and Information Science major was first offered in 1974. It was originally offered at Troy State in Montgomery mainly as a method for the U.S. Air Force to be able to secure college degrees for its officers. The major has grown through the years and in 1985 Computer and Information Science had the largest number of majors on campus. Computer and Information Science is expected to grow at a 92 percent growth rate because of the demand in graduates.

Estimated number of students: 186.

Dr. Steven Padgett
and Kyle Bozeman from the School of Journalism 'shot the breeze' while tailgating during Homecoming 1997.

"The TSU Hall School of Journalism has offered me a great educational opportunity; with the hands- on, real-world experience I've gotten here, I'm ready for a career in the 21st century."

- Heather Heinike

Department of Music

The Music Department serves the campus and the community with a wide range of musical performances and course offerings. Concerts by the "Sound of the South" Marching Band, The Symphony and Symphonic bands, the Jazz Ensembles, Collegiate Singers, Madrigal Singers and Music Theatre fill the air with music each year. Course work in music on campus serves the entire student body in developing listening skills and knowledge of standard composers and their works in the general studies music course.

Estimated number of students: 120

Faculty and staff from
the Department of Music.

Hall School of Journalism

The Hall School of Journalism at Troy State University was founded in 1972 and has become a leader among journalism schools in the South and the nation. Its philosophy is to provide students with the best possible classroom instruction and practical experience. It is the only journalism program in Alabama whose broadcast journalism students do a live noon and evening news cast each day.

Department of Arts & Classics

The purpose of the Department of Arts and Classics is to provide instructional programs in art which enable students to develop their individual artistic abilities, express themselves effectively through artistic means and engage in meaningful visual communication. It is the purpose of the department to provide programs which develop art majors who demonstrate the appropriate level of competence in the field of art and in their chosen areas.

Estimated number of students: 95

Faculty and staff from the Department of Arts and Classics.

Department of Speech & Theatre

The communication arts for more than 24 centuries have been the foundation of education in Western civilization. The communication arts have been celebrated and practiced at Troy State also. That "celebration" and its related rhetorical and theatrical practices continue in the communication arts program of the Department of Speech and Theatre.

Estimated number of students: 100

Faculty and staff from
the Department of
Speech and Theatre.

C ollege of Education

The College of Education is comprised of two departments: the Department of Education and the Department of Psychology. Undergraduate and graduate programs are offered in early childhood education, elementary education, special education, secondary education and elementary-secondary education in art, music and physical education. An undergraduate program is offered in psychology. Graduate programs in foundations of education and counseling also are offered.

The purpose of the College of Education is to provide undergraduate and graduate students opportunities which will enable them to become contributing members of our society.

The College of Education is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education to award the bachelor's, master's and education specialist degrees.

Department of Education

The Troy State University teacher education programs have been approved by the Alabama State Board of Education and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. Students completing one of these programs are eligible to apply for the Alabama Class B professional certificate provided they have a grade point average of 2.5 in their teaching field, in their professional studies courses and in all work attempted.

Estimated number of students:
2,700

Faculty and staff for the Department of Education.

Dr. Ann Smith busy assisting students.

Department of Psychology

The Department of Psychology became a separate department in 1981. This department has since been expanded to include counseling and foundations of education. The psychology programs have evolved into two majors, a 45-hour major and a 70-hour comprehensive major.

Estimated number of students:
120

Faculty and staff from
the Department of Psychology.

College of Health and Human Services

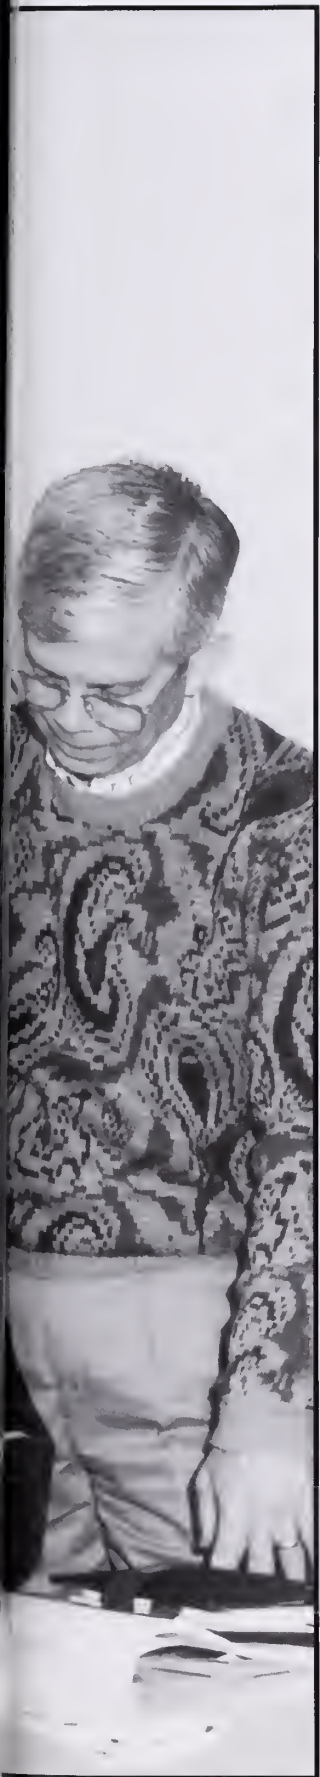

The College of Health and Human Services was formed in 1994 in order to provide quality education for professional practice in a variety of areas. The college aspired to the highest standards of educational excellence and blended a professional perspective with a liberal arts and science foundation.

Within the College of Health and Human Services is the School of Nursing, the Department of Athletic Training, the Department of Kinesiology and Health Promotion and the Department of Human Services which includes rehabilitation and social work.

The college is committed to meeting the challenges of the next decade. It emphasizes quality teaching and valued scholarly activity. The college is committed to the development of its students into knowledgeable, caring responsive and self-directed individuals able to meet the health and human care needs of a diverse and complex society through change, advocacy and leadership within communities.

Department of Athletic Training

The Athletic Training curriculum Bachelor of Science Degree started in the Fall of 1992. There are 48 graduates that are board certified and employed at universities, hospitals and physical therapy clinics. The Athletic Training Program is now in the process of seeking accreditation from the National Athletic Trainers Association.

Estimated number of students: 38

Faculty and staff from the Department of Athletic Training.

Department of Human Services and Social Work

The Department of Human Services and Social Work offers majors in human services, rehabilitation or social work. The faculty in the department are determined to give students a professional perspective in a variety of areas associated with health and human services. The majors offered in the department have the principal educational objective of preparing graduates for beginning generalist social work and rehabilitation practice.

Estimated number of students: 400

Faculty and staff from the Department of Human Services and Social Work.

Department of Kinesiology and Health Promotion

The Department of Kinesiology and Health Promotion changed its name from HPER in 1996. The department remains focused on the development of students and their ability to go into the world with the best knowledge of how to be healthy and active citizens in their community. The department is dedicated to the proposition that the mental processes are only a part of the total personality and that a healthy mind functions best in a healthy and well-developed body.

Estimated number of students: 370

Faculty and staff from
the Department of
Kinesiology and Health
Promotion.

School of Nursing

The School of Nursing was approved to establish a baccalaureate program in 1969 at the request of the Troy State president and Board of Trustees. The resolution for the establishment of a School of Nursing was unanimously passed by the Alabama Legislature. The school has been continuously accredited by the National League for Nursing since 1974. Further expansion has included beginning RN-BSN programs on the Montgomery and Dothan campuses in 1978 and on the Phenix City campus in 1982.

Estimated number of students: 350

Faculty and staff from the School of Nursing.

Student Affairs

The Division of Student Affairs is committed to providing a wide range of opportunities for a diverse student population. Emphasis is placed on providing students an opportunity to serve the university while working in both paid and volunteer capacities and while participating in both curricular and co-curricular activities. Student Affairs work is about possibilities. Students come to Troy State with hopes and high expectations. They face choices and challenges which can be channeled into positive directions or which can prove to be overwhelming. The Student Affairs staff believes that educators both within and outside the classroom can make a difference in the lives of students and help them to meet their expectations and expand their understanding of themselves and their world.

Adams Center

The Adams Center staff is responsible for the Operations of the Recreation Room, TSU Lanes, meeting rooms and ballrooms, intramurals, Adams Center Union Board, Chapel and Smith Hall Auditorium. The Adams Center offers many opportunities for students and faculty to get involved in campus activities.

Adams Center director
Dan Boswell

Dining Services

The Dining Services staff works daily to keep the campus well fed. There are a number of places on campus that offer meals for students. In Stewart Hall students can dine at Crossroads Cafe or The Grill. Crossroads offers a wide selection and is open 19 meal periods a week. The Grill offers fast food items such as: pizza, hamburger, chips, etc. In the Adams Center, students can eat at the Trojan Room. In the Trojan Room all items are sold A la carte. The Dining Services staff also provides catered meals for meetings, banquets and luncheons.

Housing and Residence Life

Living on campus is a unique experience for many students at Troy State. This type of living can be an educational and enjoyable time. Troy State University has many standards and regulations that must be met for students who want to live on campus. These standards are very important in order to insure the safety of students.

Housing director Herbert Reeves.

Auxiliary Services

Auxiliary Services is a profit and non-profit organization founded by the Adams Center Union Board to provide services at minimal cost to students at Troy State. Services include: The Trojan Card, Center Services Inc., Trojan Media Services, Post Office, University Store, Trojan Quik-Stop, Box Office and ID Card Center.

Diane Barker helps

Enrollment Services

Enrollment Services offers a number of opportunities for students to enroll at Troy State University. Troy State has Pre-College Orientation for beginning freshmen. The purpose of PCO is to help provide the new students with a smooth and successful transition to TSU by exposing them to the many academic and social aspects of college life and assisting them with the registration process. The Academic Records Office is also offered. Records serves as the home for a student's permanent academic file, the originating source for all TSU transcript requests and the evaluating agency for all transfer credit. Students can also apply for Trojan Ambassador, whose activities are coordinated by the Admissions Office. Ambassadors are the official host/hostesses for numerous campus activities and serve as student recruiters for the Admissions office.

University Police

The University Police Department at Troy State University works hard to fulfill its responsibilities to each member of the University. The campus police help students by enforcing policies, providing services and providing information that will assist students in making the time they spend here safe and enjoyable.

University Police Department.

Counseling and Wellness Services

Services provided to students by the Counseling and Wellness Services have included prevention programming, a resource library, speaker's bureau and student leader training. Examples of topics provided are time management, stress reduction, drug abuse prevention, rape prevention and alcohol education. Consultation is provided to faculty and staff as well as residence life staff for mental health concerns through assessment and referral assistance.

Faculty and staff for Counseling and Wellness department.

Student Involvement and Leadership

Involvement in campus organizations and activities were an important part of a student's experience at Troy State University. Students found that one of the best ways to become involved in campus life was through joining a campus organization. Students who joined campus organizations developed their leadership skills, met other students who shared similar interests and goals and develop lifelong friendships.

Amy Allen, Barbara Patterson, and Jennifer Barton keep students involved on current events around campus.

Financial Aid

The Student Financial Aid Office strived to help students meet their educational costs that exceeded the parents' contribution and other resources. Staff members assisted students and their families in understanding those regulations.

Carol Supri and Lisa Henderson keep things running smoothly in Financial Aid.

Chancellor Jack Hawkins, Jr.

The 1997-98 school year was a time of extensive change, but also a period in which we built upon traditions of excellence. This academic year was a time of unprecedented growth and construction on the Troy State University campus.

Over the course of the year, many construction projects were completed while others began. The new Hall of Honor was dedicated in October, and now stands as the permanent home of the National Bandmasters Hall of Fame, the Alabama Band Association Hall of Fame and the TSU archives. Expansion and renovation of the McCall Hall Science building was ongoing and nearing completion by the end of the academic year. The new laboratories and classroom space housed there will mean greater educational opportunities for all of our students. Also undergoing renovation in 1997-98 was Pace Hall, soon to be the new home for most of TSU's international students. Finally, the academic year saw the opening of a new sorority hall made available through the purchase of the former Baptist Children's Home.

In athletics, we completed renovation and expansion of the field house, which included a new weight room and auditorium. As we completed the field house project, we initiated the renovation and expansion of Memorial Stadium and Sartain Hall.

Amidst all of these changes, however, we have remained focused on the central calling of this university--our students. We firmly believe that Troy State University should, and must, educate one student at a time. This is a tradition which, despite all the changes, will never die.

Sound of the South

The Troy State University Bands offered a variety of musical experiences and the opportunity to develop musical skills to the fullest potential.

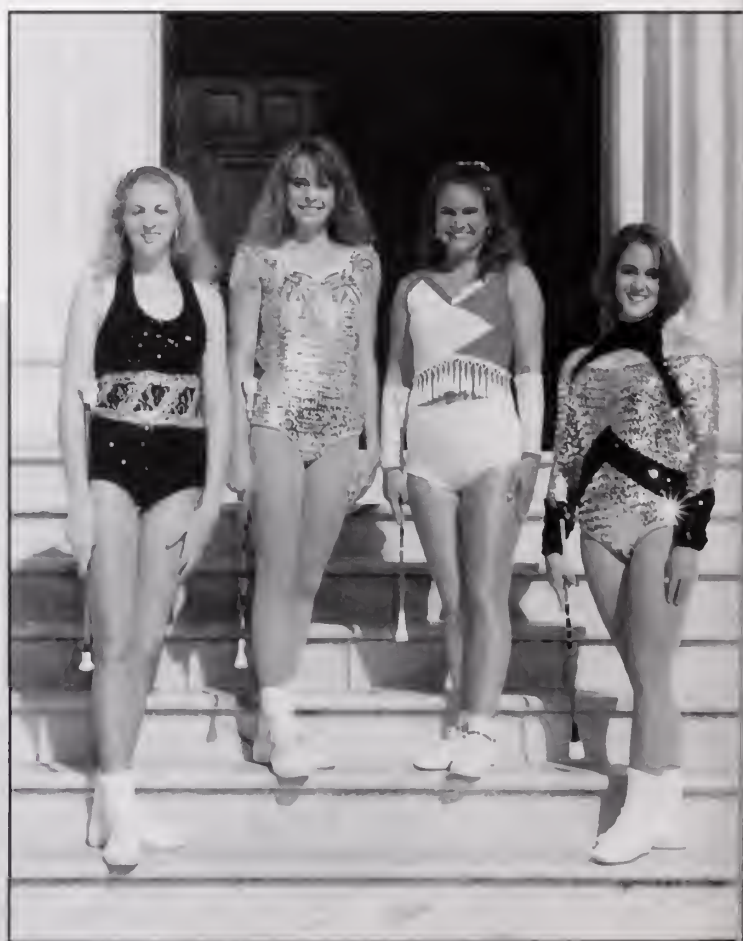

The Symphony Band is perhaps the only band in the country with its own weekly radio program. It is the featured performer on the "Strike Up the Band" broadcast over the Southeastern Public Radio Network, WTSU-FM (Troy-Montgomery), WRWA-FM (Dothan) and WTJB-FM (Columbus-Phenix City).

The Marching Band is a precision marching ensemble of more than 275 members. The Sound of the South will be featured on the Warner Brothers Publications Marching Band CD Promotion which will be distributed to more than 30,000 band directors throughout the United States.

The Troy State Bands offered all students the opportunity to continue their musical experience at the highest standards of performance.

How we did it:

The 87th volume of the Palladium was published by Herff Jones, Inc. in Montgomery, Ala. Our representative was Johnny Hall and our plant consultant was Kara Key.

The theme began as "It Takes All Kinds." Then due to various events on campus we felt we needed something more traditional and what better than to call the 1997-1998 Palladium "Traditions."

The cover was designed by Marianne Alford and Edgar Harris. The cover material was smokey blue cordova grain with black and silver foil and blind embossing of the Palladium. The cover fonts are Windsor Demi and Officina Black.

There were 1,100 copies of the book printed. The book was presented during Fall quarter 1998 to students who pre-ordered the book during the 1997-1998 school year for five dollars.

The paper is 80 pound and the book contains 320 pages.

All body copy is 11 point Times. Captions are 10 point Windsor Demi with a 6 point line beside them.

Folios are all caps Windsor Demi 12 and 18 point.

Divider pages are full bleed ghosted pictures with Windsor Demi Font 60 and 72 point.

The fonts varied throughout the Campus Life Section to create a sense of the diversity on the TSU campus.

Organizations are Gaelic 60, 48, and 24 point. Greeks are Symbols 88 point and Times 50 point. Athletics are in Times 48 point and Helvetica 100 point and as you flip through the section you will find the words to the TSU fight song.

Academic Headlines are in GrailLight 36 point and Old English 48 point.

The Palladium was created on two Macintosh LCIII computers in Aldus Pagemaker 4.2 and two PowerMac Computers in Adobe Pagemaker 6.0.

Photographs were taken by members of the TSU photography department as well as various students who submitted photos for their organizations.

The Palladium receives funding from the Student Activity fee and is supervised by the University Student Publications Board.

The Palladium Staff would like to thank everyone who supported the Palladium this year.

A special thanks_____

Finally Done!

Palladium Staff 1997-1998.

Editor's Note:

I sit here in my office in the top corner of the Dorothy Kelly Adam's center and look at the 1998 Palladium ladder hanging on my wall. It has numerous scribbles where things changed as the 1997-1998 school year progressed and it also has big lines drawn through pages as they were completed and mailed to the Herff Jones plant.

It's hard to believe that another year has passed. Another book will arrive in the fall to place beside the others on the shelf. A shelf filled with Trojan Tradition, Pride and a legacy that will never end.

Chancellor Hawkins once said, "The sun never sets on Troy State University." His meaning was in reference to the branches of our university located around the world. But the sun really never sets on Troy State University in Troy, Ala. The legacy never ends, the traditions never die, the university always shines.

We have faced ups and downs on the Palladium Staff this year as we do each year. However, this year there seems to have been more ups than downs. We began the year with 10 staff members and 12 volunteers. We now end the year with 6 staff members and one volunteer. However we have spent time and effort this year trying to bring the Palladium back to the awesome book that once represented our university and its diversity among students.

We have also faced many challenges on the TSU campus. With thoughts of a name change for this university, we students have grown to love as Troy State University.

We have laughed, we have cried and we have learned. And we will continue.

This year we are deeply saddened to say goodbye to the person who has given the Palladium its guidance for many years. Our adviser, Gordon D. "Mac" Mckerral will be taking a new position as a newspaper managing editor.

We will miss him and his guidance and know that he will always be there if we ever need to call.

He has given us guidance when he did not really have the time because of his other responsibilities. He has brought many of us here to Troy State by offering us an opportunity to work with a student publication. He influenced many of us to choose the field of Journalism.

So now we close another door on a decade of service that he has given to this university. He is perhaps the most well respected teacher in the field of Journalism because his door is always open to students whether for academic or personal reasons. He has always stood by us when others would not. He is a teacher, a friend and he will be missed by all.

So now I seal the envelope of the final page for the 1998 Palladium. Another year has passed. Another book on the shelf. The tradition continues.

Marianne Alford

AMIE FAIN

You are the best! You are always there to do your job, listen to me when I can't go to anyone else. I could not ask for a better business manager. Thank you for a wonderful year. I will never forget the Valentine's cards, Easter baskets and other surprises to cheer my days in the office. One more year and one more book to go! Then we'll go to Los Pericos.

NIKKI GUILFORD

I am going to miss you so much. You have given four wonderful years to this staff. I am always happy when I get to your pages in the stack because I know they will be nearly error free. You have faced hardships with having to constantly rework your ladder and I want you to know that I appreciate your cooperation. Best of luck out in the real world and always remember that you will be missed by us.

JEREMY LUKER

You are one of the three surviving freshman. You have done a much better job than usual on the athletic's section. I look forward to working with you again next year.

MINDI MCBROOM

You also are one of the three survivors. Thanks for taking over the organizations section at the last minute. That is what you want to do next year, right?

STEPHANIE PETTIS

Only three more quarters to go and we will be "outta" here. Thanks for taking on a brand new section and making it work.

JUSTIN ROGERS

What can I say to the guy that can miss a staff meeting and not really tick me off because you always have an excellent excuse. You did a great job working with Lesa on the Greeks section and especially on learning how to create pages on computers. You will be an excellent section editor next year. Oh and by the way, I'm glad you're spending so much time up here! Stay out of trouble!!

LESA SYLER

Thanks for all of your hard work during my past two years as editor and assistant editor. I could always count on you to get the job done even on the toughest sections. Best of luck to you in the future. Congratulations on your graduation.

EDGAR HARRIS

I don't know why I still put up with you and your "friend." Just remember that anything after 7 p.m. is date, dutch or not. If you want to be AD/PR president you just have to tell everybody to their face. And Titanic is the best movie you will ever see. Just a few reminders. Thanks for being a great friend and for volunteering your spare time on the Palladium Staff. I don't know if I could do what you do and not receive anything for it. You have done a great job finishing up the Campus Life Section as well as every other thing that you have been "drafted" to do this year. I bet that portfolio is getting pretty thick. Congratulations on your scholarship.

KENNY ROEDL

I have three words for you: YOU ARE CRAZY! But you are a great friend (even though you annoy the heck out of me the majority of the time). What will I do when I am gone and don't get anymore crazy messages on my answering machine. Don't work too hard at Hardee's. And make sure you get those chocolate chip cookies again soon. Best of luck as the Trop Sport's Editor next year.

DAN BOSWELL

How about a basketball game? Thanks for running such an excellent operation at the Adam's Center. You are always so nice to make sure that everything is set up and running smoothly.

BRENDA MCDUFFIE

We were all skeptical when you first came to the Journalism Department. You know how us students are, we don't like change. Although we miss Shari and there will never be anyone like Shari, you are our new favorite face in the Journalism Department. And there will never be another Brenda. You are the best and we are glad to have you to listen to our problems and to take care of us. Thank you for all that you do for the students in the Journalism Department.

ERIN JOHNSON

Thank you for your 110% Trojan Spirit and your love for this university. You have shown great support for the Palladium and I look forward to working with you next year in your new position as SGA President.

DONALD NORSWORTHY

Thanks for dealing with the difficult orders we sometimes place. Your patience has helped us produce a book that students can be proud of.

DR. PADGETT

Thanks for always coming to our rescue when we have a computer problem. Even though you had a very tough year you still took time to come and fix our problems. Thanks also for being a great director of the Journalism Department.

CHARLOTTE DAVIS

Thank you for your continuous support to the Palladium and to the students of this university. Most students do not realize all that you do for them and that you are not against them. Thanks for all that you do for us.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

Thank you for your participation in overseeing university publications. Your continued guidance and support helped make the 1998 Palladium the best.

DONNA CLARK-SCHUBERT

My wish for you is that you beat this disease as so many have done before you. Thank you for what you have taught me about the field of Public Relations, for being our Ad/PR adviser and most of all for being a friend to all of our gang.

MOM AND DADDY

Thanks you for your love and your support for the past 21 years of my life. Three more quarters and one more yearbook to go and I will finally be done. Thanks for everything. I love you.

JON AND EMILY

Congratulations to both of you and best of luck in the future. I am so happy to finally have a sister. I love you both! Congratulations on your graduation (Emily) from the Troy State University School of Nursing. Best of luck.

BRAD

You are such an encouragement and an inspiration to me. It's because of your listening ears that I can return to this office each time a problem has occurred with a smile on my face. The past three years have been three of the best years of my life and that is because of you. You have put up with my excitement and my griping about this yearbook during that time and I am very thankful for that. Thanks for always being able to make me smile! I could not ask for a better person in my life. Only three more quarters to go and one more yearbook to go (YEAH!!) Love you!

MAC MCKERRAL

What can I say to the person who brought me to Troy State University. I couldn't have asked for a better adviser and teacher during my first three years of college. When you told me at the beginning of the year that you wouldn't be here next year, I knew it was true even though you had told me that every year since I have been here. The time has come for you to move on and do what you love to do. Thank you for always standing behind me when there is a problem and for letting me know when we have done good. You are the best teacher at Troy State University, because your main concern is that the students learn and impress their employers with what they can do and their accuracy. You have defended students so many times and for that I say thanks. Thank you for helping to make me the person that I am today and for helping me prepare for my future. I have to say that I made it through three years of your classes and advisement without once being yelled at and only one "C" and all "Bs."
